Re: People's Stuff update

People's Stuff, the documentary about collectors and their collections is now in its final edited form. Enclosed is a videotape containing a copy of all footage shot during your individual interview as well as a copy of the finished piece.

Twelve people were interviewed for this documentary and six were included in the final cut. Editing considerations were made based on, not only the interest level of the collections, but also on which stories and personalities would work well with each other.

I will be submitting the piece to Iowa and Minnesota public television as well as documentary festivals. I will keep you posted with regard to broadcast times.

Again, thank you for your help on this project. Every interview was great and added to the excellence of the final project.

Sincerely,

LeAnn Erickson

Ruth,

Thanks so much for contributing to this project. I feel your segment is one of the best in the project. The tape is owed to the beginning of the final piece, I hope you enjoy it!
